THE WIND AT THE DOOR.

Often to my door
Comes a twilight visitor.
When the mountain summer day
From our valley takes his way,
And the journeying shadows stride
Over the green mountain side,
Down the clove among the trees
Moves the ghostly wandering breeze.
With the first stars on the crest
And the pale light in the west
He comes up the dark ravine
Where no traveler is seen.
Yet his coming makes a stir
In the house of Ash and Fir.
"Master, is't in our abode
You will tarry on the road?"
"Nay, I like your roof tree well,
But with you I may not dwell."
Birches whisper at their sill
As he passes up the hill,
"Stranger, underneath our boughs
There is ample room to house."
"Friends, I have another quest
Than your cool abiding rest."
And the fluttering Aspen knows
Whose step by her doorway goes—
"Honor, lord, thy silver tree
And the chamber laid for thee."
"Nay, I must be faring on,
For tonight I seek my own.
Breath of the red dust is he
And a wayfarer like me;
Here a moment and then lost
On a trail confused and crossed.
And I gently would surprise
Recognition in his eyes;
Touch his hand and talk with him
When the forest light is dim,
Taking counsel with the lord
Of the utterable word."
Hark, did you hear some one try
The west window furtively
And then move among the leaves
In the shadow of the eaves?
The reed curtain at the door
Rustled, there's my visitor
Who comes searching for his kin.
"Enter, brother, I'm within."

SHORT LIVED COMPLIMENT.

Archibald Forbes' Experience With a Colored Cabman.

There is a delightfully human story which Archibald Forbes, the famous war correspondent, told, rather at his own expense, of his gratification at the apparent desire of the "man and brother" for higher intellectual culture. On arriving at the station at West Chester, Pa., where he was to lecture, a colored cabman, it is said, offered his services to convey him to his hotel. When he got there, Mr. Forbes asked the extent of remuneration expected for the journey. The darky replied:

"Well, sah, if you'd jes' give me a ticket to de lectur', sah, I should be right glad."

This unusual request from a cabman struck him not only as singular and laudable, but as quite complimentary to him, so he said:

"Certainly. And haven't you got a missis?"

"Oh, yes, sah; I'se got a missis!"

"Well, you shall have one for her."

And he requested his agent to hand to the knowledge seeker the requisite passes for the entertainment. On reaching the lecture room he cast a glance over the audience to see his colored friend, but he had not arrived, nor did he put in an appearance. Next morning, on getting into the same man's vehicle to go to the station, Mr. Forbes said:

"I didn't see you at the lecture last night."

"No, sah; I we' not dar."

"But, you know, I gave you tickets for yourself and wife."

"Yes, sah; I know that, sah, but you see, sah, I jes' sold dem tickets for $1, sah, 'cause I'd rather hab de cash, sah."—Philadelphia Call.

Family Resemblance.

A young gentleman took his little sister with him while calling the other evening at a house where he is a regular visitor. The little girl made herself quite at home and showed great fondness for one of the young ladies, hugging her heartily.

"How very affectionate she is," said the lady of the house.

"Yes; so like her brother," responded the young lady unthinkingly.—Buffalo Courier.

WEDNESDAY, JULY, 25, 1900

IT HAD THE RIGHT RING.

Charles A. Towne in his opening made a review of the causes that moved him to sever his connections with the Republican party, in a scholarly and masterly manner in the Opera house at Reno, on Monday evening, as noticed. The people came out to hear him till the house was filled to its capacity, including standing room. When the gentleman had detailed in a clear and dispassionate way his reasons for severing his connections with the party in whose political cradle he had secured his first political impressions, he impressed his audience by informing them that he received what were to him new revelations when elected to Congress.

He ascertained that the party was deceiving the people on the financial question, because it was its intention, while before the people pretending to do otherwise, to adopt the gold standard. That he was a bimetalist in principle and would not permit himself to be made a party to the deceit that was practiced upon the people by its leaders. He reviewed the platforms of the party in 1888, 1892 and 1896, and showed their inconsistency upon the financial and trust questions, which was the means of causing many Republicans, including himself, to sever their fealty to the party in which he had been nurtured and had received his first ideas in politics, which, fortunately for him and his country, were pure when he received them, which made the later deceit of the party more shocking when he discovered its duplicity.

When he had concluded a general review of the financial and trust questions from a Republican party position, he addressed himself to a discussion of these questions in a special or particular manner, declaring the causes that led up to the present position of the party on trusts. When reviewing the action of the party on trusts he gave special attention to the late work of the party in Congress at the close of the session upon the proposed constitutional amendment for the suppression of trusts as claimed, which amendment deprived the states to legislate on the subject of trusts, which was the real intention of the amendment.

The amendment as presented should have been entitled an amendment to the Constitution to support trusts, which would have more properly described the intent included in it, by depriving the states of the right to legislate on the subject.

The Republican party had thrown off all disguises on the financial question by declaring for and adopting the gold standard, which was its original intention to do.

The speaker then reviewed the action of the party upon the imperialistic character that had been given to the expansion question, including taxation without representation, which was the principle that caused revolution by the Colonies against the encroachments of Great Britain.

He detailed the impossibility there is in the make up of our system of government for the flag to represent authority in one place while the constitution is doing duty in another place. That the constitution must follow the flag in matters of jurisdiction to make it complete. That United States authority could not exist without the implied presence of the instrument from which the government derives its powers. Should authority exist without the presence of constitutional authority it represented usurpation of power which was the mode of government exercised and administered in the islands lately acquired by the United States.

He argued that a colonial system could not be conducted under powers conferred by the constitution because it was foreign to the instrument and to the thoughts of those who made it. The gentleman said the word colony did not appear in the instrument and, he might have continued by saying, or any other word of like meaning in the sense in which the word colony is applied in government. Mr. Towne was explicit in all that he said upon the questions discussed.

When there is not any thing to rest government upon in any form recognized in the system the authority used in government must come from a source that is spurious which is usurpation. Authority that is the offspring of usurpation is dangerous because government is the will of a usurper. The will of a usurper may be in a certain way to-day and in a very uncertain way tomorrow. While it may be certain in its ways it may be very uncertain in applying them. The anomaly of certainty directed by uncertainty is present in government, which is a result of an imperial system or government derived from the will of a man or from any source that is uncertain in its action.

The system applied to the islands is such government as McKinley and those in authority deems proper to extend to the people who inhabit them according to the tender mercies of trusts. Government by trusts is a late invention by bosses in the Republican party, whose tool McKinley has succeeded in making himself to the humiliation of the people of the republic for the exploitation of capital directed by them. The question there is remaining for solution is, will the people submit to the direction of trusts by voting a Republican ticket and supporting the usurpation made by them by using the authority and power of the republic

WORDS IN THE "GAZETTE"

The Gazette last evening was replete with amusement. Words! Words! No end to words, but it was exceedingly careful not to attack any point taken by Mr. Towne. It would be more amusing, than the matter that appeared in the paper last evening, to read an attempted answer by the Gazette to any one of the truths discussed by the speaker.

The Gazette is in trouble over the unanswerable arguments of Mr. Towne. Mr. Newlands is not a pet of the Gazette any more since it has became aware that he is in earnest in his support of Bryan and Stevenson. The American people are likely to become largely American by November which will cause more trouble for the Gazette.

Sunshine in His Soul.

Shortly before his death Professor Brown regained consciousness. He called his wife and other members of the household to his bedside and bade them a pathetic adieu. As they knelt beside him he prayed in fervent eloquence and sang the old familiar hymn, "There is Sunshine in My Soul." As the last note faded into silence he glanced upward as though his eyes could pierce the infinitude of space. Then returned the delirium, and with it death.

Word was received yesterday of the death of John Gates at Hepner, Oregon. Mr. Gates was a resident of Reno for over a year, during which time he was with the Cann Drug Company. He was a nephew of Mrs. A. L. Layton of this city.

Several months ago he sought a change of climate, which failed to benefit his health. He succumbed to Bright's disease Thursday night.

V. S. Houser and son of San Francisco are examining the tailings of the Mount Diablo and Holmes companies in Esmeralda county, with a view of cyaniding the same.

The sale of personal property of the Rhodes Marsh Borax company in Esmeralda county took place under foreclosure proceedings recently. It was all bid in by mortgagee.

It is reported that active work will shortly begin in the Bay State mine, White Pine county, and that after remodeling and improving the mill it will be made to yield its full capacity.

The cyanide works at Pine Grove, Esmeralda county, which have been working the Wilson tailings, made a final clean-up this week and closed down. The plant will be torn down and moved to Grass Valley, California, where the company has a lot of low-grade ore to work.

Now Little Hope for the Legations in Peking.

Special to the JOURNAL.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—All hope for foreigners in Peking would seem to be destroyed by a letter written by the British Minister, Sir Claude Mac Donald on July 4 and which has only now reached the public.

It shows that at the date mentioned, twenty days ago, the foreigners had already lost forty four killed and had twice as many wounded and the Minister states in so many words that the survivors could not hold out for many days more against the determined attack. That attack has not been wanting.

The worst feature of it all is that the letter seems to furnish positive proof of the utter falsity of Chinese official "edicts" and dispatches, which have set forth that nothing had happened to the legation colony except the deaths of the German Minister and Japanese Chancellor.

A very different story comes from Mac Donald of forty four dead, eighty odd wounded and the survivors fighting despairingly for their lives.

BARBARY COAST

Robert Snowden's Resort Is the Subject of a Brief Dissertation.

During the trial of a "Barbary Coast" habitue Monday on the charge of "rolling" a drunken man and annexing his watch and $70, another robbery was committed in the tenderloin. This time the victim was out $30. Of course, if a man avoids this district he greatly lessens his chances of being robbed, but that is no excuse for allowing the den of thieves to exist.

Said a young man yesterday, "The officers and reporters would better mind their own business. It will take more than the "601" to run us out."

The young man in question is named Snowden. He is a collegiate, a gifted musician, a man of rare social qualities and of an estimable family. The chief fault we find with him is that he permits his place of business, the Del Paso saloon, to become a gathering place for these ultra-objectionables.

If you, Mr. Snowden, will remodel your business methods, so as to conform your joint less to the type in Grant Alley, Five Points and White Chapel, the reporter, at least, will find his own business "off for you are concerned. Now, look, for the sake of old times when we were brother pencil-pushers, please don't black our eyes until they regain their normal tint.

The JOURNAL makes no apologies to anyone for undertaking and carrying on this mild crusade against the carnival of open door and brazen vice that at present reigns in this city. When the turbulent purlieus of First street resume their wonted calm, the attacks by this paper will cease, and not before. An absolute suppression and wiping out of vices is not our purpose and we have at least sufficient sense (or sense of humor) not to attempt to fight windmills.

But the good of Reno is the aim of this paper. We must curb lawlessness if we would gain that class of population which will make of Reno a city of culture and refinement, a city of beauty and a city of homes.

Squaw Aggie, an aged inebriate was sent up yesterday by his honor Judge Linn. She had fallen down and run a knot hole into her face.

The chain gang was doing noble duty removing the moss and slum gullion from the bed of the Truckee river near the iron bridge.

There are fifteen or twenty racers already at the fair grounds spoiling for work, but owners complain that the track has not been put in condition for speeding.

The JOURNAL suggests that on a certain day, to be agreed upon by the ditch owners, all the ditches be shut down and the impurities in the river flushed away.

On the evening of August fourth the members of Washoe camp will go to Wadsworth to institute a camp of the Woodmen of the World. It will start with fifteen charter members.

Struck a Bonanza.

Two prospectors are developing a claim not many miles from Reno and are meeting with astonishing results. They are down less than twenty feet but have a pay streak that has widened from one foot to three. Several assays have shown their rock to average 300 ounces of silver and an ounce and three quarters in gold.

Less than half a dozen people know the location of the claim or the richness of the lead, but the owners cannot keep the news of the strike from the public long as their ore heap is piling up fast.

YE EDITOR IN DISTRESS

Our Neighbor Had a Bad Night After Hearing Towne's Talk.

Last evening's Gazette was devoted almost in toto to disparagement of C. A. Towne and his matchless and patriotic address the previous evening.

Three columns of space are not devoted by a little country daily to do battle unless the foeman be a giant or the editor a fool. We will not discuss the latter hypothesis. Evidently Mr. Towne is doing a heap of damage to Republican hopes by his eloquence, his argument, his facts, his figures, his truth, his humor and his satire.

The De'il was to pay yesterday as the Bryanites winked the other eye and the disciples of Hanna gazed pensively on the ground. Ye Republican editor proceeded to settle the bill presented by his Satanic majesty, but attempted to liquidate in the spurious coin of false logic and presentation of facts born of fancy.

But we also have fault to find with Mr. Towne. He wasted too much good powder upon ye little Republican editor It is not good economy to annihilate a what you call-em ant with a sixteen inch lyddite shell.

"Whistling Rufus."

The article in the JOURNAL the other morning headed "Whistling Rufus" brought a friend of Engineer Rollins to the office with a good and sufficient reason for the using of the peculiar whistle on the "swing" engine. The whistle in question is the only one of its kind in this part of the country, and when nearing Reno the engineer kills two birds with one stone by obeying the company's commands to whistle at every crossing and also it answers the purpose of a message to his loving wife that he is coming that she may prepare to feed the inner man. The irregularity of the arrival of the "swing" train makes this message necessary so that the engineer can sit down to a warm meal after his hard day's work.

But by way of parenthesis the engineer's friend stated that Mr. Rollins wished to make friends and not to lose them, and if he thought he would lose one friend by the using of his "musical whistle" he would apply to the company for another whistle and take chances on getting a warm meal once a month.

But, go it, Rollins; whistle to your heart's content. It is music to us now that we know that it is done for a good cause.

Dr. Doane's High-Class Record

Dr. W. G. Doane, the optician who is making periodical professional visits to this city, graduated at the head of his class from the Philadelphia College of Optics after a three years' course. On his return to his home at Carson, Dr. Doane was appointed government optical inspector of the Nevada volunteer infantry. The Doctor has been in business at Reno the past two years and is conceded to be the most reliable optician in the State. He will be at the International hotel July 22d.—Virginia Chronicle.

The Congregational church yesterday afternoon was filled with weeping friends as the funeral service was spoken over the remains of Charles P. Brown.

Rev. F. Vernon Jones, his beloved pastor, told in broken tones of the clean, white life of the young Christian and scholar. The members of the Alumni Association, student body, F. and A. M. and Eastern Star were present in a body, bringing beautiful floral emblems.

Van Duzer Thumps Sain.

A week ago the JOURNAL interviewed District Attorney Van Duzer of Humboldt on the status of agriculture, mining and politics in the "Empire county." The interviewer's questions were answered in a frank and conscientious manner. After a glowing account of the progress Humboldt is making in material affairs, Mr. Van Duzer dwelt upon the attempt of Black Wallace to run the politics of that county from the ground floor to attic.

The Lovelock Tribune, successor to the far famed Gold Creek News, and harmonica for the "Seepee," made copious extracts from the interview and, after maligning Mr Van Duzer's political motives, plunged into the latter's private affairs.

The innuendo and insult were too much for a man of Mr. Van Duzer's temperament to allow to pass unpunished. The official and lampooner met in Reno yesterday morning and Mr. Van Duzer after giving Sain a back handed slap across the face proceeded to decorate the optics of Mr. Wallace's political poodle. Bystanders intervened in time to prevent serious drainage of blood.
